

Investment Luncheon

The ramifications of the Brexit Leave vote on Ireland and on global financial markets

You are cordially invited by Seán Pierse to a complimentary luncheon hosted by the Kerry Law Society and Chartered Accountants Ireland.

Key topics for discussion are:

- Is the UK vote to leave merely another bump on the road or is it a fundamental shift for Irish industry and for the investment landscape?
- Currency and treasury management challenges for investors and for SME's who trade with the UK.
- Where from here? The perspective of an Economist.
- The short and long term effect of the vote on the five asset classes i.e. deposits, bonds, alternatives, property and equities.
- Advice for investors in a continuing environment of high volatility as the equity markets are weighed on by factors such as the Brexit vote, migrant tensions within Europe, subdued economic growth and low demand for commodities.
